

Dónde obtener atención médica cuando no es una emergencia

¿Usted no está seguro de dónde obtener atención médica cuando está enfermo o lesionado?

Este folleto le servirá de guía a alternativas a la Sala de Emergencias

Siempre comuníquese con su Proveedor de Cuidado Primario, si es posible

Formas de obtener atención médica Cuando Usted está Enfermo o Lesionado

Clínicas de atención de urgencias y clínicas ambulatorias

Siempre comuníquese con su Proveedor de Cuidado Primario (PCP) primero.

Su PCP es su fuente principal de atención médica y puede ayudar a coordinar atención médica con otros proveedores. Si su PCP no está disponible, clínicas de atención de urgencias y clínicas ambulatorias pueden proporcionar atención médica para problemas no urgentes o problemas que pueden esperar.

Motivos para visitar clínicas de atención de urgencias y clínicas ambulatorias:

- Enfermedades comunes, tales como resfriados, tos, síntomas de gripe, infecciones de oído, dolor de garganta, migrañas, fiebre, e infecciones de la piel.
- Lesiones menores, tales como los tobillos torcidos, dolor de espalda, pequeños cortes o quemaduras, menor rotura de huesos, y problemas oculares menores.

Las Clínicas ambulatorias y Clínicas de atención de urgencias normalmente aceptan a pacientes sin turno previo. La mayoría de ellas están abiertas 7 días a la semana. Algunas hasta permanecen abiertas hasta tarde entre semana y en días festivos.

Si su proveedor no está disponible, llame las 24 horas a La Línea de Ayuda de la Enfermera al 1.800.859.9889.

Nuestras enfermeras registradas están disponibles las 24 horas del día, siete días a la semana cuando no puede comunicarse con su proveedor o servicio de contestador de su proveedor. Su proveedor lo conoce mejor y es su mejor fuente de ayuda, pero nuestras enfermeras están disponibles para ayudarle cuando su proveedor no lo esta.
